

walk to create a world free of MS

THANK YOU

Over a third of a million Americans have MS, typically diagnosed when they are young adults. Through more than 80 chapters and branches, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society offers education, advocacy and programs that focus on quality-of-life issues. Your contribution to the Society helps fund international research to end the devastating effects of MS; however, more federal funding is needed in the quest to find a cure. In the face of unpredictability caused by MS, the National MS Society is one thing people with MS can count on.
